

Martina Milat – CV

Martina Milat, Ph.D. was born on August 13, 1992., in Split. She completed her graduation studies in civil engineering (Construction organization programme) in 2017 at the Faculty of Civil Engineering in Zagreb. The same year, she was employed at the Department of Construction Management and Economics at the Faculty of Civil Engineering, Architecture and Geodesy in Split. In 2022, she defended her doctoral thesis with the title "Multi-objective optimisation model for resilient construction scheduling under uncertain conditions". The assistant's research interests are focused on the application of optimization methods in construction planning and also on the field of sustainable construction.