

CV

Katja Marasović

Prof. Katja Marasović, Architect, Ph.D. , was born on November 13, 1961 in Split, Croatia. Graduate in Architecture in 1985, Master in science in 1996, Ph. D. Graduate in 2002 on Faculty of architecture University of Zagreb. Currently she is head of the Department for Architectural Heritage at the Faculty of Civil Engineering, Geodesy and Architecture University of Split. She is professor on Doctoral study of Architecture and Urbanism on Faculty of architecture University of Zagreb too. In addition to teaching she is engaged in the research, conservation and rehabilitation of historical buildings especially of Diocletian's palace and historical core of Split as well as the medieval and renaissance fortifications of Dalmatia. Author of numerous conservation studies, architectural projects and scientific papers. She is an associate member of the Croatian Academy of Technical Sciences, vice-president of ICOMOS Croatia and member of the executive board of the international association ASMOSIA (Association for the Study of Marble and Other Stones in Antiquity).